Lyrics by Tamara Williamson

Push back the soil and sold you back the top
There's millions of neighbours lying in a pile
And gravity had won when it came crashing down
Only the red spiders are laughing at us now

And all the lonely people
Wish they were lonely now
And all those lonely people
Wish they were lonely now

She's under you (Say it ... Say it ... All of the time)
She's under cover (Say it ... Say it ... All of the time)

Sitting all around talking about nothing
This is what it takes to get nothing done
And we were all in love when it came crashing down
Only the red spiders are laughing at us now

And all the lonely people (Say it ... Say it ... All of the time) Wish they were lonely now (Say it ... Say it ... All of the time)

Only that time you said to me ...
Remember that time you said to me ...
Remember that time you didn't speak
You didn't speak
