Is there a which craft sweeping across the floor
That kiss the flowers threw it all with a hurl
I won't ask you for a reason
There walks a man in the corner of my eye
He spends his money on his heart he just can't buy
And I ask you for a reason

In my heart it hurts I can't deny
But I turn away when I heard you cry
I'll give you this broken arrow

On and on people will get hurt
On and on creeping in the dirt
Just because of the money
Or because of the love
As the sun goes down in this wondrous world

I pass your house as I'm walking in the sun
Out in the backyard children playing having fun
And there must be a reason

In my heart it hurts I can't deny
But I turn away when I heard you cry
I'll give you this broken arrow

On and on people will get hurt
On and on creeping in the dirt
Just because of the money
Or because of the love
As the sun goes down in this wondrous world
