

Mighty Lemon Drops

"You Dont Appreciate Anything"

Visit "You Dont Appreciate Anything" on MotoLyrics.com

You Don't Appreciate Anything by The Mighty Lemon Drops

Album: Sound (c) 1991

I have climbed the highest mountain,

Took the long way to the top,

and I'm sure I swam an ocean

here and there.

All these things that I would do

to bring me ever close to you

Find it hard to think you'll never really care.

I would walk a hundred thousand million miles

to be with you.

You don't appreciate anything I do

I would saunter through the desert wearing heavy boots and furs,

I would cross the Artic circle with no clothes.

I would sneak inside your dreams or take a peak into your dreams

just as nothing or I know

I wouldn't go.

I would walk a hundred thousand million miles

to be with you

You don't appreciate anything I do

You don't appreciate anything I do

miles and miles and miles and miles.....

I have climbed the highest mountain

took the long way to the top

and I'm sure I swam an ocean

here and there.

All these things that I would do

to bring me ever close to you

Find it hard to think

you'll never really care.

I would walk a hundred thousand million miles

to be with you

You don't appreciate anything I do,

You don't appreciate anything I do.

No, No, NO....

Typed in, hopefully correct, by Margie Arellano

Visit Mighty Lemon Drops page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.