Hear the voice that is calling you!

Deep in the night I feel the emptiness, because he is on another quest
But it must be done and I'll wait for him
I walk alone through the Darkenwood, the silver moon lights up my way
My companion is my Pegasus

So deep in the night where darkness devours all light
Ruled by demons and ghosts 'till the sun will awake

Midnight Past

We find a path that we've never seen before, suddenly from nowhere he appears
And I hear a voice, that is calling me We have to know where this path is leading to, so we decide to leave our Present route
But we can't foresee, what is awaiting us

So deep in the night where darkness devours all light
Ruled by demons and ghosts 'till the sun will awake

Feel the hands, which are touching you!

Under a tree, sitting on a stone we find a man wearing a black robe
But this can't be real, I can not trust my eyes I can feel that my heart begins to pound, his cold hands are touching me softly
And I realize, that I love this man

So deep in the night where darkness devours all light
Ruled by demons and ghosts 'till the sun will awake

Midnight Past
