

Cook Elizabeth

"Mama's Prayers"

Visit "Mama's Prayers" on MotoLyrics.com

I'm not in The Hall of Fame,
I'm not on the Walk of Shame,
I guess you'll find me in-between somewhere.
Things go right and things go wrong,
Sometimes you'll hear me sing this song
You'll always find me in my Mama's prayers.

Sure as the skies will turn dark at the end of the day
The angels must count on what she's gonna say
Now I know I'm at least one of five other names
When I'm down and think nobody cares,
I remember that I'm in my mama's prayers.

Not everybody has a mom and no one does forever long and I used to think well Lord that's just not fair but I believe your words are for always and they won't end with todays and I'm grateful to be in my Mama's prayers
Sure as the skies will turn dark at the end of the day
The angels must count on what she's gonna say
Now I know I'm at least one of five other names
When I'm down and think nobody cares
I remember that I'm in my Mama's prayers

I don't always know what to believe and I don't always know everything I need but faithfully my name is called each night, by quilted bedside,
and the Devil may come seek me on a dare
But he'll be up against my Mama's prayers.

When I'm down and think nobody cares,
I remember that I'm in my Mama's prayers.

Visit Cook Elizabeth page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.