Now this is old modernity
They callin' it the future sound
The voice is plated solid gold
Big and bold
World renowned

Scientist so fresh
They know not what to make of this
You hear that mic son?
Undeniably electric

Been known to set it off once in a blue moon
Now welcome to the solar eclipse of a blues tune
Cool, calm - chill out
Weapon for the space age
Doc Strange
Cut and paste repin' center stage

Engage all day from beginning to finale
Been known to dilly dally from here to killah Cali
Been known to get his rally on to the break of dawn
Another walk off home run
The gritty metropolitan

If this ain't homegrown hip-hop
Tell me what is
If you ain't feelin' this
Motherfucker, what gives?
Where'd he get his soul
It must have been his birthplace
A student of the nineties
Who wants it in the worst ways

So deadly with this mic device
Who makes his meals from scratch
And never touch the minute rice
Now moving along in western civilization
Keep breakin' the laws and carry on traditions

Now cop a piece of this brittle riddle
It'll teach little lessons
Like don't get caught in the middle

Can't stand bitches who claim no mistakes
They're like weapons of mass destruction
And yellow cake
'Cause the shit don't exist
Hey yo it's all in the wrist
He got
He got
He got
So many tricks

Goodness gracious been known to ramble and such
Been hot for a handfull
But cool to the touch
Cool, calm chillin'
Waitin' for the smoke to clear
Never fear
It's the defenders in your atmosphere
World premiere
Your's truly, hair unruly
Compelling to ladies who act tough but foolish

One wish, the kid who wished for infinite wishes
Now feed the starving artist who clean all your dishes
And for dessert a heaping spoonful of hurt
On weekends been known to write rhymes like a pervert
Revert to the days of the invincible youth
It's truth
Justice and a shiny gold tooth
