Good morning midnight hello again

if I don't close my eyes december ends tick tick tock tock who's keeping time?

Throw away the stopwatch losing my mind

I'm so fixed on this hieght that I found

once you touch the sky there is no coming down

Seconds turn to minutes and the minutes turn to hours and the hours turn to days and the world goes round and round and round and round and round and round and round and round and... X8

The restlessness you're in my head I cannot get you out

hot on my lips, taste of your kiss I just can't live without

The restlessness the restlessness the restlessness the restlessness

Good morning sunshine you strike a match and until the twilight brighten the back wide awake but sometimes it seems like I'm running backwards lost in a dream

I'm so fixed on this hieght that I found

once you touch the sky there is no coming down

Seconds turn to minutes and the minutes turn to hours and the hours turn to days and the world goes round and round and round and round and round and round and round and round and... X8

The restlessness you're in my head I cannot get you out

hot on my lips, taste of your kiss I just can't live without

The restlessness the restlessness the restlessness the restlessness

Seconds turn to minutes and the minutes turn to hours and the hours turn to days and the world goes round and round and round and round and round and round and round and round and... X8

I'm so fixed on this height that I found

once you touch the sky there is no coming down

Seconds turn to minutes and the minutes turn to hours and the hours turn to days and the world goes round and round and round and round and round and round and round and round and... X8
