When the darkness leaves you lonely,
Or the world tried to push you away
When your sky is looking troubled
You can count on me
'cause I'm gonna stay

Put your worries in my pocket
I've got a key so we can lock it
I swear that, I won't let them escape

Love, it's always worth it love
Everyone deserves it
Its the friend that holds your hand
When nobody understands

Love, it wants to heal you, love
And see the real you
But you have to open up
When you need a little love

If there's something you're in need of (you're in need of)
You only have to let me know
I've got a shoulder you can lean on & I'm always (always) right up the road

Put your fears in my pocket
I've got a key so we can lock it
And no one (no one), won't let them escape

Love, it's always worth it love, everyone deserves it
Its the friend that holds your hand
When nobody understands

Love, it wants to heal you, love
And see the real you
But you have to open up
When you need a little love

Every night when your heart is praying for peace
From a noise in your head, yeah

There's a light that is yours too keep
And brighter than all the rest

Love, it's always worth it love
Everyone deserves it
Its the friend that holds your hand
When nobody understands

Love, it wants to heal you, love
It see the real you
But you have to open up
When you need a little love
