I'm running round in circles
Meeting people I see everyday.
There's no one left to talk to
Cos I already know each word they'll say.

In the land of the living
There's a key
In the land of the living
To open me
In the land of the living
I will search no more,
Cos it's you that I've been looking for.

I'm running round in circles
Meeting people I see everyday.
Cos I already know each word they'll say.

If only I could find the things I miss
There must be some place
Where there's more to life than this.

I'm running round in circles
Going places I go everyday
Don't wanna be here anymore
I've got no reasons left to stay.

If only I could find the things I miss
There must be some place
Where there's more to life than this.

I will search no more
I will search no more
Cos it's you that I've been looking for
