Verse: Anger makes us hate what we don't understand
We believe the worst, then we look the other way
Afraid to share the ground we walk, the air we breathe
Our world is not changing cause you're stopping it
Choices divide us

Bridge: Tears mixed with blood
Different religions fight each other
For something that may not be true

Chorus: Forget who you are
And throw away all your hate and anger
Soon you'll look down
Ashamed of the waste of time
So open your eyes again

Verse: They think he creates trying to expand their map
Someone loses faith when he sees that there's no end
A simple man spreads the dust of his only son
So how can you blame him for having different skin?
One day you'll wake up

Bridge: Tears mixed with blood...

Chorus: Forget who you are...

Stick: How can I tell you
So much to explain
My words to poor
So only my smile remains
"Nobody cares where you come from Only where you're going"
Break the mirror Could you lie to your self?
Turn around Could this be what you want?
Open your eyes Sometimes the silence speaks for itself

Chorus: Forget who you are
And throw away all your hate and anger
Soon you'll look down
Ashamed of the waste of time
Forget who you are

And throw away, your hate and anger
Soon you'll look down
Ashamed of the waste of time
It's time to put out that
Primitive light
