Helpless confusion lures my mind
Into the arms of you tonight
Images form but I can't see Through the infectious distraction that is welcoming me

Now I try to run but it's too late
The damage is done all I do is wait
Slow the release for us to share
Soon you'll take hold then I won't care

Designer climb destined to fall
Seduced with lies you took it all
Of what you give don't want no more

You never understand, you always take control of my life
With you I have no room to breathe
You're always never off my mind

Now memories fade and time is stalled
As freedom gets lost behind closed doors
Pray for some peace within my head
As I relive things I can't forget

Designer climb destined to fall
Seduced with lies you took it all
Of what you give can't take no more

You never understand, you always take control of my
life
With you I have no room to breathe
You're always never off my mind
You never were my friend, how could I let you into my life?
With you I have no room to breathe
You're always never off my mind

Designer climb destined to fall
Seduced with lies you took it all
Of what you give can't take no more

You never understand, you always take control of my time
With you I have no room to breathe
You're always never off my mind
You never were my friend, how could I let you into my
life?
With you I have no room to breathe
You're always never off my mind
