Mother why don't you hear me?
Won't you put that down and love me again
Mother why can't you see now?
All that I did wrong I'm now trying to end
Can't you feel the desperation?
That hides behind these sorry eyes
It's gone too far for me to escape this wrong
I'm so ashamed

So I got lost in an immoral game
Destroyed my life, just threw it away
Now I ask you, help me with my mind
Won't you come? Help win this time
We could fight this desperation
That's slowly turning me off life
No more living lost, alone and afraid
No more this grey disguise

I don't need it, mother don't you know
I can leave it, mother don't let go
I still feel it, momma won't you stay
I don't need to tell you I was wrong
Now I'm back where I belong
So tonight don't let me go

So slow it drowned my mind
Control beat me insane
With joy welcome me home, back to your love

I don't need it, mother don't you know
I could leave it, mother don't let go
I still feel it, momma won't you stay
I don't need to tell you I was wrong
Now I'm back where I belong
So tonight don't let me go
