Just one more promise and then I'll leave the floor turns into velcro under my feet a big yellow taxi and an empty street play past it, play past it by this time tomorrow I'll be over you by this time tomorrow there'll be nothing left to lose
and it breaks my heart they all say I should get over you that you're nothing but a mood that I choose they don't know how we spent our days they don't know what we're throwing away
one more phone-call just to let you know to cover my mistakes to correct my wrongs spent so much time trying to let you go I no longer know if it's what I want by this time tomorrow I might give in by this time tomorrow I might just tell you how I feel and it'll break your heart
