Just a one more promise and then I'll leave
The floor turns into velcro under my feet
A big yellow taxi in an empty street
Play past it, play past it.
By this time tomorrow I'll be over you
By this time tomorrow there'll be nothing left to loose
And it brakes my heart.
They all say I should let go off you
That you're nothing but a mood that I choose
Well they don't know how we spend our days
They don't know what we're throwing away
By this time tomorrow I'll be over you
By this time tomorrow there'll be nothing left to loose
And it brakes my heart.
Just a one more phone call just to let you know
To cover my mistakes, to correct my wrongs
It's been so much time trying to let you go
I no longer know if that's what I want
By this time tomorrow I might give in
By this time tomorrow I might just tell you how I feel
And it 'll break your heart.
