Title: I'm her kind of guy

-----
From right out of nowhere, looking like someone,
unaware of her beauty.
It doesn't take one to know one she complains 'bout the music trying to be hardcore and you might not like the DJ but you're the queen of the dancefloor

She see right in front of you looking down
fighting a smile
she looks fine
a little tense when she's spoken to
but it's alright
I'm her kind of guy

There were too many people too many voices there's never easy to stand out when there's so many choices you put on your best smile then you act like you've got something to lose grab her arm like she belongs to you and put on your dancing shoes

-instrumental pause-

You don't even know her you just know how to make her smile and you don't know how you know how but you've been knowing it all night it's four in the morning and you're ignoring the sunrise but now you don't mind the distance 'coz you can see her when you close your eyes
