Group of friends making music together,
all personalities combined.
Shines from our faces,
focused like men who climb high mountains.
It's our fraternity, our creation.
Dedicated to one another but sometimes hating each other.
A glance at the music scene that we take part in is a big fraternity rock thing.

It's our rock, our frat rock.

Independent but dependant to the people.
A brotherhood not like Hollywood.
When it's fake we hear a click of high heels,
when it's real we know it's all worth while.

Because it's rock, our frat rock
