Well you walked into my heart like it was some old dance hall floor
I should have known better I had seen your kind before you rolled in like a tumble weed the texas wind had blown and i feel another heartache coming on Theres no doubt about it darlin you're the hurtin kind like all those other memories branded on my mind I fell right into this one you were coming on so strong and I feel another heartache comin on well its a shame you couldnt keep those promises you made to me tellin me you would never do me wrong another lesson I will learn anohter bridge that I will burn you're just another heartache comin on well I guess I'll learn the hard way darlin love is just a curse theres no sense in crying it will only make it worse so we'll go on our seperate ways and I'll be fine alone until I feel another heartache comin on until another heartache comes along
