"Oklahoma Sky"

How long has it taken to me to find you?
Five hundred years, five hundred thousand miles.
It don't matter now.
Love's always always on time.
Meet me underneath the Oklahoma sky.

Lightening flashed, everything went silent.
A feather could have knocked me to the floor.
Missing piece was found,
I was finally alive.
Meet me underneath the Oklahoma sky.

With the speed of sound,
I'm homeward bound,
Mmmm.

All our sorrow swept away forever,
Each and every tear washed out to sea.
There ain't no goodbye,
With your hand in mine.
Meet me underneath the Oklahoma sky.
Oklahoma sky.
