I've got twenty million ways you can save this place
Not since space has there been a bigger race
You've got twenty million reasons to build a bigger house
Cause you're content with your game of cat and mouse
No sweat
No blood
No tears for you this year
So more lives can starve on fear
Shouldn't have let you try to save me too
I shouldn't have let you
You paint all your lies across this given sky
So when it rains they will soak all the people passing by
I know you like what you see
Cause now I'm free
Who will be saving you
