Waitin' at a stoplight yesteday as a funeral procession made it's way through the gates I watched it roll up a winding road through a field of green with white headstones all in a row And it made me think about where I'm at on my not so straight 'n' narrow path
Of the generous and mostly undeserved blessings that I've had

Had an All American mom and dad some of the coolest friends you could ever have Found love I thought I'd never find. I can't believe this life is mine
And I'm not planing on leaving yet, but the truth is you just never know
And if this is as good as it gets, man I think I'm good to go
I'm good to go

I said a prayer for the dearly departed, and the loved ones left bokenhearted and traffic started And I drove away a little more able to see the good things on my table, for that I'm gratefull Cause I've had my troubles I've had my trials, I've hit the mark and I missed by miles Had days when I'd been fightin' mad but the good times have more than outweighed the bad

Got to hold my new born baby girl, and the hand of a man as he slipped from this world I've laughed so hard i couldn't stop, seen the sunrise from a mountain top.

And I'm not planing on leaving yet, but the truth is you
just never know
And if this is as good as it gets, man I think I'm good to

And I've been thinkin' 'bout where I'm at on my not so
straight 'n' narrow path
And I wouldn't wanna change nothing about this roll with the punches life I've had

Had an All American mom and dad some of the coolest friends that you could ever have Found love I thought I'd never find. I can't believe this life is mine
And I'm not planing on leaving yet, but the truth is you
just never know
And if this is as good as it gets, man I think I'm good to
I'm good to go
