(Chorus)

Let her go she doesn't love you anymore
There once was a time you were her whole world
It's not like that anymore
Let her go, let her go There once was a time that you believed she would never leave
And no one could ever come between Now she's tellin' you that you and her are through There's only one thing left for you to do

(Chorus)

Let her go she doesn't love you anymore
There once was a time you were her whole world
It's not like that anymore
Let her go can't you see
That you can't hold on to a love that's gone
Set her free, let her go, let her go
You're holding on right to the last, living in the past
But friend you can't do that forever
You know people change, lives and loves they rearrange
What you're doing it won't make things any better (repeat second chorus)
