ItÃfÂfÂ•s just her and the band and the clean-up man
SheÃfÂfÂ•s counting up her tips, she did alright
She says good night
She drives home to a three-room flat
Checks her machine and she feeds the cat SheÃfÂfÂ•s almost asleep, before she turns out the light
In her dreams, she rides wild horses
And they carry her away on the wind
And they never make a sound, as they fly above the ground
Tonight, she rides wild horses, again
SheÃfÂfÂ•s fallen in love a time or two, somehow it always fell through But sheÃfÂfÂ•s strong, she carries on Her life ainÃfÂfÂ•t always gonnaÃfÂfÂ• be this way,
She knows sheÃfÂfÂ•s gonnaÃfÂfÂ• shine some day
But for now, sheÃfÂfÂ•ll escape until the dawn
In her dreams...
