I built walls around my heart showed no pity, showed no pain
I refused to let love start stood alone on a rock, I could walk Right through the flame, I hid my heart behind these walls
Like a barricade of steel, I let nobody in wouldn't let love begin

I didn't touch, I didn't feel but these walls are fallin' down Stone by stone right to the ground and there's nothing I can do Baby, you're breaking through, oh, these walls are fallin' down
I hid my feelings deep inside like a fortress made of stone
I kept myself apart nothing touched my heart I could live my life alone
One by one the stones fall down I feel these walls begin to shake
And there's nowhere I can hide when I look into your eyes

There's no refuge I can take Oh, these walls are fallin' down
Oh, these walls are fallin' down
