Dear precious, I write you.
It's been a long time please spare me this emotional excess
This won't hurt a bit, just the sting of a pin prick
And out cold with your mouth shut you look so beautiful
When you wake up I'll be gone
And this will be the last song

Now! Who's laughing now?
When the fire in your heart burns out
That doesn't mean I'm laughing now

Grieving the little things about you I always thought they'd get me too, but I could never let go
And out cold with your mouth shut you look so beautiful
And when you wake up I'll be gone, and this will be the last song
Here's your only parting gift Just five words you wouldn't miss
Baby cause it's over now

I want you like a bad disease. You hold me like a trophy
Baby cause it's over now

Words that never meant a thing Importance lied in being scene Baby Cause it's over now

Appreciating what you got I can't be something that I'm not
Baby cause it's over now
