

Coretta Scott

""Miss Attention, May I Introduce Mr. Naive?""

Visit ""Miss Attention, May I Introduce Mr. Naive?"" on MotoLyrics.com

When sober is your new drug I'll be that little cut festering Beneath your clothes do blood and tears make you feel less alone?
in the garden where you sleep did you hear the statues crying out your name I walk dead dragging my hand against buildings as I pass soaking up red and green from the envy that I feed turn the picture frames down and you can cross out each face's eyes no one lives here
they just leave, cheat, steal, or die

Your skin pale as snow in dead of winter pressed against my lips
She said her heart for me would beat forever how soon you forget I tried to plant a seed where nothing would grow this has all grown so old And a memory of a summer scene has faded in the cold

My head against your chest your foot tapping against the ground To fill the absence of sound in a room without heat and void of a heartbeat, you're void of a heartbeat

I just burned down the source of a thousand emotions wasted on you never again I'll think of...

Visit Coretta Scott page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.