Seven years ago
you could tolerate loving me i've made some mistakes i've paid for them losing you is the hardest thing I remind myself just to breath

The feeling of falling so fast burn all the times we've had the feeling of nights without you feels like the end of something good silence the heart carry on cry till the pain is gone the look on your face says it all as your walking away please hold on

Murder me I can't sleep your are constantly on my mind I would do anything just to be with you can you save something beautiful can you say that you still love me where are you now
