Every night I fall asleep wake up to the same old dream this nightmare will never end clostter phobia setting in and you're scared to tell them this these four walls are closing in and your having trouble breathing hold your breath as i'm breathing in never forget how this all began

Take off the nightgown your wearing take a chance and get carried away away take a risk and give in this is just the beginning you'll love
you'll love it
you will

Staring at the cold ceiling again you wanna get away you just pretend make believe and hope to know that the end is gonna bring you home and you hope to light this match to fuel the fire of a fading past and your having trouble seeing close your eyes as i'm looking in

you'll love
you will

You'll never know
you'll never know
until you take that chance

you'll love
