Wake me up when everyone is gone just to be alone for one more song

Now it's just to late for you to tell if this has been worth it I guess for now these tears are climbing there coming out your last breath is all we have

Breath in and never let it out i'll miss your heartbeat and never let you down never let you down

Maybe everything could change can you take me to a place can you take me to a better place
can you take me to a place
can you take me to a better place
I wanna go

All my thoughts are tangled up with you I can't believe you wont see me get through this life that's been taken from me breath softly in misery

This procession now is nearing it's end all your loved ones slowly leave your death with memories of time with you can you help me make it through

Breath in and never let it out
never let you down

can you take me to a place
can you take me to a better place
can you take me to a place
can you take me to a better place
