Bursting with blood, my fingertips pulse
You didn't forget me at least immediately
So here I will hover and feed off your love
I'll listen from the middle instead of above
Will you fill up my wounds with your styrofoam blood until I forget?

Greed for your love
I bleed through this glove
So why's it aching when I'm laughing at the world?
Greed for your love love love love

A quote and a question, on a screen suppressed
I know it's not right 'cause it's a second impression
But I'd rather I taste my desires of Earth
And fill my mind with jewels for all they are worth
Than discover a diamond decays to a rock and time doesn't turn

Greed for your love
I bleed through this glove
So why's it aching when I'm laughing at the world?
Greed for your love

'Cause who are you
Yeah, who are you
To tell me what to do?
I will unwrap him just like a present
And I will discard him just when I want to thank you

Greed for your love
I bleed through this glove
So why's it aching when I'm laughing at the world?
Greed for your love

Greed for your love
I bleed through this glove
So why's it aching when I'm laughing at the world?
Greed for your love love
