You called me on the phone, said you were leaving
And you told me you were never coming home
You took away the one thing that I lived for
And left me in the world all alone

(Chorus)

I'm gettin' back to the business of livin'
I've had enough of crying in my beer
And I'll think about my yesterdays tomorrow
And live today like you were never here

Lead

Well, I spent the last three years thinking about you
Just wondering where you were and what I did wrong
No one seems to give me simple answers
Like that somebody done somebody wrong song
