I want to let you take me where it started
Through the days into the night
Where everybody moved slowly
We had all the night alone
Never caught you in the daytime
You showed me things that i never knew before
Then you went away and came back
I've been patient for so long cause
All this time that I've been waiting for this moment to come alive
And all my life I've known for sure that you'd be coming back for more
Forever, never gonna let it go forever
Picked up an old daydream
Let it take me where I want to be Where verybody moved slowly
And the world was silently asleep
Now show me where you soend the daytime
Show mw all that I never knoe before
I'll let you go away and come back
I've realized that it's everlasting
All this time that I've been waiting
for this moment to come alive
And all my life I've known for sure
that you'd be coming back for more
Forever was never till now
