In case I only get one love
I'm gonna do this now with all of me
And this is more than what I thought that it could be
And it's okay if you don't love me quite as much

Cos everything I've ever felt
I've felt with all of me and more
And I'm a little overwhelmed
I've never felt this way before

And there are waves upon my chest
And I've been full of emptiness
But since I've seen the things of worth
I've found the strength to heal the hurt

And so I've given you a part of me
Please don't return it when you're done
I don't believe I'll have a use for it
I think I'd rather just feel numb

And I have come to understand
That anything worth fighting for
Usually at some point or another
Requires fighting for

This is certainly without a doubt
The one thing in this world
I would fight my hardest for

And if I never feel a kiss again
A kiss from your sweet lips again
I think I'd spend my whole life missing them
And wishing you were more than just my dearest friend

Cos you have looked at me with eyes
That have seen more of me than mine
And for the first time in my life
I wasn't scared of what you'd find

Cos I can see that you are real
You wouldn't fake the things you say you feel
And though I find it hard to deal

With losing you I know I will

But I have come to understand
That anything worth fighting for
Usually at some point or another
Requires fighting for

This is certainly without a doubt
The one thing in this world
I would fight my hardest for
