There was a time when I knew we'd be lonely,
One last kiss then we had to move away
We had our chance and we burned in the starlight
Then our song was carried on the wind
I can still remember I can still see your face from before
Always remember some love leads to the
House of Nevermore
Sweet angel of the street come dance with me
With your eyes as black as a moonless night
Sweet angel of the street come dance with me
You carried my cross and I let you down
There was a time when I called you my lover
That time has passed I won't see you anymore
I keep the pain of the night far behind me
Another road to the House of Nevermore
I still remember the curse and the sting of your kiss
Don't cry for mercy you know that's one thing
I'll never give
Sweet angel of deceit come dance with me
With your heart as black as a moonless night
Sweet angel of deceit come dance with me
Nail me to your cross and let me cry
Always remember some love leads to the
House of Nevermore
If I take the road to the House of Nevermore
Who will be waiting to open up the door
I fall asleep in the House of Nevermore
If I should wake will I find the door?
