

Cornershop

"Some People Fly"

Visit "Some People Fly" on MotoLyrics.com

I saw an angel, who lost her wings today
A delicate whisper, a symphony for her aching beauty
Naked and frightened, I watch her crawl away
She may have touched the face of god and found she cold not stay
So bitter and twisted a purely human stain
A gentle hand to brush away the tears of crushed frustrations
Oh no, they build you up just to watch you stumble
Oh Destiny
'Cause Some People Fly
Fly high on wings of Fortune
Don't you cry, a change is in the wind
You fly, fly high on wings of fortune
Don't deny, a change is gonna come
You fly
You tasted the poison, from the cup of life
Not all you wanted, not all the things you hoped for So live with the madness, live without the fear
Superstition is for those who can't control their own fate
Oh no, they build you up just to watch you crumble
Oh Destiny
'Cause Some People Fly
Fly high on wings of Fortune
Don't you cry, a change is in the wind
You fly, fly high on wings of fortune
Don't deny, a change is gonna come
You fly
You say love will last forever
But it won't, but it won't, but it won't

Visit Cornershop page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.