

Molly Bee

"Everything But Your Name"

Visit "Everything But Your Name" on MotoLyrics.com

I was good enough to share your kisses
Good enough to set your heart a flame Good enough for your coolness and to bring you happiness
Good enough for everything but your name

When you took me in your arms and love me
Then you never felt a bit of shame
I was good enough for this good enough to hold and kiss
Good enough for everything but your name

You said I'd be your bride but all the time you lied
When you walked down the isle someone else walked by your side Still I guess I knew what I was doing and I only only have myself to blame For somehow I should have known I would end up all alone
Good enough for everything but your name
For somehow I should have known I would end up all
alone
Good enough for everything but your name

Visit Molly Bee page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.