Was Dorian Gray a man ?
Is he a painting on a wall ?
Is it all just madness ?

Nothing in this world will ever be the same
Because the portrait on the wall is the face of Dorian
Gray
Lips of ivory, face of gold
He'll stay that way till he gets old and grey
Is it true that a man can never change
Only the painting on the wall can show his pain hey hey
The hand on the picture that's covered with blood
Takes away the justice of any real God hey hey

Nothing in this world will ever be the same
Because the portrait on the wall is the face of Dorian
Gray
Lips of ivory, face of gold
He'll stay that way till he gets old and grey

Is it true that a man can never change
Only the painting on the wall can show his pain hey hey
The hand on the picture that's covered with blood
Takes away the justice of any real God hey hey
In a moment of madness he struck with a knife
Killed the painter of the portrait that marred his life hey
hey
With the same hand he found himself striking again
To take back the life that belonged to him hey hey

Was Dorian Gray a man
Is he a painting on a wall
Is it all just madness
