There's a darkness, I remember
Hit me hard at the end of November
In the desert, in Australia
In your chemical bacchanalia
Broken letters, rotten weather
Brought our end close to December
Now the embers can't remember
It's okay, oh well, whatever

Oh oh oh oh oh oh
Your life is like a gunfight

Your eyes are like the glaciers
Like daggers, like a rapier
You're older, growing colder
Like a talon, like a soldier
And your heart is like a fountain
And your body the Rocky Mountains
And your mind is like a fortress
And your hair is like the forests

Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh
Your life is like a gunfight

Are you needing? Are you bleeding?
Did your life lose all its meaning?
Are you out there? Somewhere out there?
In a wasteland, do you even care?
In the darkness, I won't remember
Won't remember what happened late last November
There's a silence in my mind now
Live a little bit just for yourself now

Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh
