Behold
the glow
Blue Earth and the knowledge it bestows to our ashes, through our robes into the universe we flow Like water rising, the flood is coming, and I don't think that you can hold your breath, like water rising, it's all consuming and we never learned to hold our breath

Don't talk about freedom while you're building prisons all across our land Your thunder and sky right on time Don't talk about Jesus while you kill the Gods that live inside our head

Below
we choke on the smoke from our arrogance we've shown we don't listen to simple wisdom and soon enough we'll know The fire's rising, the fire's breathing and you never learned to hold your breath, the fire's breathing, it's all consuming and I don't think they'll be anything left.

Don't talk about freedom
while you're building prisons all across our land
Your thunder and sky right on time
Don't talk about Jesus
while you kill the Gods that live inside our head Your thunder and sky

We're disconnected.
Circle mother holy ground coming from those here that love you we want to sing a song that when you hear shines like the sun above you wash us in your soothing rain Cold ice mountain hide your pain That we have inflicted with our memory loss of where we came

Teach the children all you can.
