You'll smile and tease me
Just to make me laugh
Come up behind me and surprise me
I like that

Yeah, it seems
And I know for sure
That you'd do anything
Just to make feel a little bit happier

But these day to day niceities
Aren't what knock me down
Put me on my knees

You'll speak, and it's like I've never heard words before You'll touch me, my skin never felt anything before

Fate must have intended something miraculous
To make every second with you feel like this

Touch me, and watch as the electricity shoots through my every vein
Kiss me, then hold me
Because there's nothing I can do but drown in your arms
Under your lips
I'll die
You'll kiss me again
I'll be reborn
Over and over again
Each time

Death was never so sweet
Nor pain so enticing
You smile, wrap me in your arms
And I never felt so alive
