Shackled down to wasted days
I think it's time to break these chains
Planets align from the inside
Bitter truth still mystifies
Where is this king that wears no crown
Drifting behind cuz I'm sliding down
Helpless man you can't ignore
Watch your back cause never turns to more
Just like before
Wise fool'd with devil's hand
I broke the rules to understand
Where the same from far away
Distant worlds fade to grey
Where is this queen that holds me down
Drifting away without a sound
Helpless man worse than before
You lost your way
Cause never turned to more
Ever more
Never turns to more
Time has slipped this under the door
Never turns to more
And we lost the games that we thought were ever more
Ever more
Out of sight, out of mind
Took me to a different place, different time
I believed in you
Out of sight and out of mind
You took me to a different place every time
I believed in you and you and you and you
And the truth is what I never knew
Never came from stars of blue
A path long overdue
The will to live is an oversight
What would you give for just one night
Where is this king that wears no crown
I'm drifting behind and I'm sliding down
Helpless man you can't ignore
Watch your back cause never turns to more
Just like before
Never turns to more
Time has slipped this under door

Never turns to more
And we lost the games that we thought were ever more
