Beginning of this world swelled with mankind
Who built a tool to kill a fool and lead the blind
Invent the rule to keep you down and call it a sin
The stand behind the wall and watch the games begin

Separate by class we can keep the middle low Instill the order with a border just for show Give them weapons and let them have their piece of mind
Then tip them off so they can kill what's not their kind
And watch them shake like you
And watch them shake like you

If tales come true when judgements due they'll call us all liars
And put us in their Hell and set our souls on fire Remember sin your only friend he brought your through Hallucenate with hate and watch them shake like you

Watch them shake like you
Watch them shake like you
Watch them shake like you
