Torn from within disciples till the end
Wastin' time is how it's always been Kiss the floor, steal the key, lock the door
There's are many ways to decline
Bonafide crucified in your prime that you left behind...

Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone

Broken days pumpin' through your veins
Shattered thoughts are gone but the reflection always stays
Losing sight, losing sight with our fight
That once was a war now you got 1000 scars
And nothing to show them for

Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone

In between surrender sight unseen
Split the seam when no one intervenes
Feel the kick from the heartless heretic
That once made you shine
Now your grounded down for the lost time
Shut your eyes to the crime

Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone
