how many times (?) i alone in here thinking about you when i should be with you my dear don't understand why i put myself through all this pain when you're the reason why i sit here going insane and i tried my best not to think of the past but i won't forget what we both use to call true love when i wake up in the morning and she's not here i just can't accept the fact that these are my tears

and i hate missing you, i hate missing you tried to block it out my mind but it's just a waste of time because i'm missing you, yes i do i hate missing you memories of you just won't seem to go away i tried to block it out every single day my heart is heavy with the things that you use to say now in the back of my mind the argument just replays

but i won't forget what we both use to call true love
