Coffee is over, like everything we used to have
So I light up another cigarette pretending it's ok.
But it's all gone in to your eyes
But it's all gone like a thief in the night

I fall a sleep with open eyes, is this hell or paradise?
Memories and bitternes pretty much is all that left.
Like a clown with no disguise, walking on a thin ice.
This is our last dance, see nothing happens by chance.
Another roll of the dice it's so hard to realize.
Time flies-clockwise is this hell or paradise?
This is our last dance see nothing happens by chance...
by chance...

There is no wrong, if there is no right.
There are no clouds, if there is no sky.
And there is no compromise, if there is no love.
There is no sacrifice, if there is no hope.

I wanna feel like, I wanna feel like something new
Is going to trough my mind, making me breathe
because of you.
I wanna feel alive, I wanna scream so I get through
This hopeless state of mind, I wanna get out and feel brand new

There is no left if there is no righ
There is no day if there is no night
There is no hope and there is no meant to be
There is no love if there is no me!
