Waves fold
she holds on to the dance light cause its the last song she'll be remembered by but the first song her baby will hear is chased by the right of passage and the right to life

"she doesnt want to be a mother" and i find it hard, to second guess a world that points at you and its awfully quiet now that the streets are clear

He's got it all the know how and the lovely neglect pull that trigger boy you've got that bang in you with nothing to prove put the boys to the left and the girls to the night making his chances on maybes and games

"he could never be a father" bang
