Fashion that look, naked and calm again. dont be so glad, its never news to you dont think im weak, im just in love picture me untouched and invisible couldnt be that bad, wish that you really knew half the truth, that its all because... she dont wanna be that girl, and i know its you walk my words for what they're worth fashion that look, make-up and all pretend after all she took, everything that she could and its all down hill from here she thinks i cry to clean my face when i've seen her tears one million times mine are just hints and clues i swear they're promises
