The world you chose has a practical vein
But I read much more into your name
Lifeguard.
Patrolling the length and the breadth of your pool
I call your name from the vestibule
Lifeguard

Lifeguard - save me from life
Save me from life
Save me from life
Save me from the ails and the ills, and from other things.

The center of the town is a dangerous zone
Drenched in phlegm every time that I come home
Lifeguard - save me from life.
Save me from life.
Save me from life.

Save me from the ails and the ills
And from other things.

Love me, oh help me, oh

oh help me, oh help oh

Lifeguard, guard me from life
Lifeguard, guard me from life.

The last bus home is the dangerous one,
A baseball bat against the collarbone.
Lifeguard.

Lifeguard - save me from life.
Save me from life.
Save me from life.

Cause it's the only life I'll ever have,
I'm always good, I'm never bad
And I've always been so kind,
To the sick and to the partially blind.

Save me from life.
