Before the outpouring of transient worlds
The Vast Darkness was in Itself
He was not, and I in Him
In a rest of perfect Darkness

Still-born existence, rejoicing in a pitch-black womb
Death was yet to deliver this child

Before the Great Sea overflowed... when the pillars collided
The Vast Darkness in Itself
In a paradox existence, where the creative principle are of Itself
A lidless eye opened Itself in the emptiness - Death fell
... yet there is hope for all...

The still-born spirit rests with the Gods
In a Sterile Triad, before the ' joins -
In deathless Death, that life has not yet touched Redemption is delivered, through the bliss of the Lord

He was not, and none in Him... in a rest of perfect
Darkness
Still-born worlds, once potent in the pitch black womb
Death delivers the child
