"Collected Some Nerve"

I collected some nerve as I rounded the curve in the driveway
the house was still light so I thought what might be the most tactful of things I could say

I knocked on the door with no feet on the floor and she opened it up and she smiled
she invited me in but I could just grin and point to my car like a child and the "no" that I heard was a four letter word I accepted her answer descending and I walked in to find some good friends of mine and I laughed and I was not pretending
