Once upon a time, the chemistry was cool
I had a little place, just a space standing next to you When you lost your mind, did you realize or wonder why?
When you go insane, you're to blame now I gotta fly

Underhanded, how you planned, it was the perfect
crime
That was once upon a time, once upon a time
That was once upon a time, once upon a time

You never told me that you had a little dark spot on your heart
You threw me a bone, left me alone and then you ripped me apart
Now you're the one, come undone, the tables turned around Where did you go, so low, I think you're going under ground

Underhanded, how you planned, it was the perfect
crime
That was once upon a time, once upon a time

Now it's time to take a stand, take it back in my hands I'm only doing what I can, why should I give a damn

Now it's going down, I dropped the other shoe You know it's been said you're thick head, it all comes back to you
It seems you're the one come undone, the world has turned around Original sin is doing you in and now I Understand it, how you planned, it was the perfect

crime
That was once upon a time, once upon a time
That was once upon a time, once upon a time
Once upon a time
